DEATH OF DR. MOORE .- Dr. Thomas G. Moore, formerly of Painesville, died of consumption in this city yesterday. His funeral will be held at three o,clock this afterneon at his late residence on Ohio street, near the Homeopathic Medical College. Friends are invited to attend.

Gover Straw .- John Sherman (the new revenue cutter) got up steam last Priday, and demesned himself in a satisfactory manner. He will take a run out into the lake either on Thursday or Saturday of next week, not on a trial trip, but on his own account. Wn. Pitt Fessenden, his twin-brother, is growing apace, and will soon reach his full stature and maturity.

Remaway.-Yesterday morning a horse wned by Thomas Schowden took fright at the corner of Water and St. Clair streets, and began running. Before reaching Superior treet he dashed into and damaged considerably a vehicle owned by a Mr. Glasser, when he plunged down Vineyard street. The horse tripped upon the pavement on Centre street, and was quite badly bruised by the fall. The hired man who was driving, or trying to drive, sprained his ankle badly.

GOYRANDA BROUGH .- We regret that we must again report unfavorably as to the Governor's condition. His medical attendants yesterday morning thought that one of his legs must be amputated to prevent the spread of the gangrene. But the operation was not performed yesterday because of the excessive inflammation in the limb. We trust the necessity of performing such an operation may pass away.

SERECA STREET BAIDGE.-The construction of the iron portion of the bridge across the spidly carried forward under the superintendence of Mr. Z. King. Much of the iron work on the pivotal part of the struc-ture is already done. A few days more, or weeks at most, and we shall have a bridge at that point, which for solidity, du rability and excellent workmanship, it will be hard to best. Mr. A. A. Wright superintended the masonry work, and the abutments and piers are pieces of perfect work in that line.

PLEASURE SLOOP .- A small sloop is being built in Quayle & M crtin's yard, for the use of a party of sporting gentlemen of this city. She will be forty-seven feet long and fourteen wide, with a cabin twentyfour feet in length. She is nearly all cabin. The design is, to fit her up comfortably for the accommodation of a party of hunters and fishermen, run her up bays, rivers, creeks, and what not, anchor or tie herup, while the men pursue their adventures n small boats or on land. She was com menced about three weeks since, and will be completed in a short time.

ANOTHER BUILDING PROJECTED .- Since the close of the war many of our eltizens are prosecuting with vigor the work of renairs on an extensive scale, or of putting up new buildings. No less than four or five elegant business structures have been, within a few weeks, put in process of rection. The Cleveland Paper Company have just commenced laying the foundstion of a large building across the street immediately in the rear of the store on Superior street. It will be 75 by 51 feet in di. mensions, three stories high, and be built of brick. The Company design using it for a warehouse, or depository of paper, and the for the purpose of preparing rags for the factory, &c. It will be completed within The Duty of the Church to the Nation, Commencement at Oberlin.

Address by Theodore D. Weld to th tion of the Sentiemen and Ladies of the Collegiate and the Sentiemen of the Theological Departments-The Concert--Gratorio of "Creation,"

Our correspondents have advised the readers of the LEADER of the progress of the literary festival of the Commencement season at Oberlin, from the first anniversary to the collation on Wednesday afternoon. In his last letter, "Lancelot" characteristically stopped at this point-the collation, with its joys and faccination of edibles and female beauty-and could no farther. We pardon bim this weakness, for we remember the days when we, too, were young, uncallused and impressions-

If the day had been set apart to class reunions and rare social enjoyment, the hundreds who had shared the joys of the same were destined, the following evening, to have a higher and richer experience, to feel an electric touch, and thrill in common to the magic tones of a venerable man whom truth and love and zeal made eloquent. We refer to the ADDRESS TO THE LITERARY SOCIETIES made by Theodore D. Weld, whose head has grown bald and his beard silvery with age, in the advocacy of all causes which tend to bject was "Our Work: What and How?" topic not new, to be sure, but one which the times makes peculiarly significant, and which received masterly treatment. He graphically reviewed the history of Amerisinuous and subtle, but, the last two decades, straightforward and defiant,-in politics, n, the church, in literature. Its slimy path was through all things. Everything became innoculated with it, and the government seemed on the brink of destruction-The war came on, and in its issue the national cures collapsed. But though the form of the gigantic svil has perished, the spirit survives, and we have now a host yet to vanquish in the unsubstantial shape,-but no less dangerous and difficult because unsubstantial .- of popular prejudices to color and the ienorance and degradation of classes. Our work at this stage of affairs, the orator showed, is the putting to flight of these colish prejudices, and conquering a civil and political victory for the poor and hitherto down-trodden. The address was very elequent, and repeatedly called out from the immense audience the liveliest expressions of applause-At a late hour the entranced assemblage dispersed, and sought that rest andrefreshment which should fit them to enjoy with keenest relish the exercises of the last, THE GREAT DAY OF THE FRAST. Long before nine o'clock, on Thursday morning, the great church was crowded to its utmost capacity by alumni, the friends of the candidates for graduation, and the friends of the college. Comparatively few of the town people were in attendance. They generously denied themselves the accustomed indulgence, to make room for visitors from abroad.

The graduating class was a very large one, and had an unusually generous mixture of femineity, as will be seen by the following ONDER OF EXERCISES.

BENEDICTION. Excused. -tin the Army. As President Finney was compelled by feeble health to be absent, Dr. Morgan officiated, announcing the names of the ora tors and essayists, and at the close presenting the graduates with their wellcarned diplomas. Of course in the exercises of so large a class we must not look for elaborate argument and exhaustive treatment of subjects. The speakers and essayists were limited to four or five minutes, each, for it is not in human nature to out-sit Time on a stretch. Nevertheless, as the universe is repeated in each one of its atoms, according to the dogms of Swedenborg, each brief performance these students exhibited the culture and excellence of the whole course of college discipline. The Lord's prayer has been perfectly and beautifully engraved on tablets so small, that only a sicroscope would reveal the tracery.

It is of course impossible for us here to speak as a critic of the several performances, and it would be invidious to particularize. The essays of the ladies were uniformly excellent, unusually so, and the orations were vigorous and bold. A glance at the programme shows how largely the times mixed in the thoughts of those scholars. They dealt with topics which ride and rule in the American mind at this

At the close of the morning's lengthy exercises Dr. Morgan called the class upon the stage, and proceeded to speak to them farewell words. Those who saw and heard will not soon forget the touching manner of the address, the excellent wisdom of the same, and the general solemnity of the scene. The diplomas were at length presented, when, after the second degree had been conferred upon a large number of gentlemen and ladies, and benediction had been pronounced, the vast audience dispersed, to meet again at two o'clock in the afternoon, to witness the THEOLOGICAL STUDENTS' GRADUATION.

This class numbered seven members, and their orations were creditably written and delivered. The following was the ORDER OF RESERVISES.

Counterfeits not Use'org,

MUSTIS. It will be seen by the above that the theological brethren were also inspired by the best spirit of the hour. Their thoughts were as fresh and invigorating as wind lowing off the lake, and not musty as if they issued from a damp, close clothespress, as is sometimes the case with productions of this soberer, staider, less juicy class of students. They were repeatedly applauded, and many of their utterances affected the audience like, and seemed to have the virtue of, soda-water!

THE CONCERT-ORATORIO OF " CREATION." But the literary festival was drawing to close. The concert was to crown all, and the season end in music. For several weeks the Musical Union, a large and powerful body, have been practicing, under the efficient lead of Mr. John P. Morgan, the grand sacred oratorio, Haydn's "Creation." Public expectation was on tip-toe, nor were the people disappointed. The ready cessed. There will then remain but rendering was, on the whole, given in a great grand way, in a style commensuorward civilization and ennoble man. His rate with the conceptions of the grand events which the poet and composer would celebrate. If one of the early choruses was not justly rendered. this small defect was presently swallowed up in the overpowering effect with which can slavery, traced its influence-at first the performance was given. We can speak now only in a general, distant and very inadequate, unsatisfactory way, hoping to refer to the subject sgain when full justice may be done the concert, but it must be said here that the choir were admirably disciplined, and showed that they had been under the eye and hand of a master. The oratorio proved a success, giving universal satisfaction and delight,—a fact somewhat remarkable when it is consider ed that the character of the music is not what is called popular. The result was doubtless due to the truly superior, that is, intrinsically natural, manner in which the > oratorio was performed. At the conclusion of the final magnifi cent chorus, the vast audience, thoroughly delighted, but sad withal, sought a parting recognition of old and dear friends, with eye and voice and hand, and in pensive good walked forth beneath the stars, realzing, and saddened by the conviction, that Commencement was over. Duty again called them each to his respective wors.

THE CONCERT LAST NIGHT .- We have not time or space this morning to speak as we would like, and as we are prompted to concerning the concert given at the Academy of Music, last night, to a crowded ouse, by the celebrated Cornet and Orchestra Band from Eastman National Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. To say that they are the finest organization of the kind in the country is but feeble and insipid praise. They are immense. Composed of twenty-eight musical proficients, this band is now making the tour of the States after having established a reputation for superiority, which is national. It is under the lead of Mr. D. T. Morgan, with Mr.

H. Straubel as Director. The programme last evening was an admirable one. The rational serenade, "Departed Days," was one of the finest performances we have ever heard, deriving its fascination in some measure, perhaps, from as surely as Truth suists, this invaluable Toute its association in our minds with the memory and Alterative would restore his disordered stemof our lamented Lincoln, the last serenade sch to a healthy condition. To the Bilions it is dom seen a house surrender itself with such abandonment to the magic of performers. This admirable band go next to Detroit They are engaged to perform during the Michigan State Fair and at the inauguration ceremonies of a new college in that State. We trust that they will stop here on their return from the tour of the West, and give our citizens another opportunity of hearing one of the grand est musical entertainments that can be afforded.

MITCHELL'S NEW SCHOOL GROGEAPHY .- S. Augustus Mitchell, the, author of several favorite geographical works, hereby offers the public a new school geography, it being the fourth book of the series, accompanied by a new atlas of great merit, consisting of forty-four copperplate maps. The work is gotten up in the most attractive and approved mantier, and presents a system of modern geography, physical, political and descriptive, which is as complete as a book adapted to use in schools may be.

The work is profusely illustrated. The publishers requested Messrs, Cobb. Andre ws & Co. to send them the cut of some minent view in Cleveland, for which Cration—Incentives from the Past,

DAS RICE'S MARKOTH MENAGRES.—This monster traveling exhibition, which is to visit this city on Monday and Tuesday next, is without doubt the largest and most complote menagerie ever witnessed on this continent, requiring 110 men, 165 horses, and containing an unparalleled collection of rare soological wonders, procured at great expense from all quarters of the globe. The whole management of this immense institution is under the personal supervision of Dan Rice, which fact is a sufficient guarantee that nothing will be permitted in the entertainment which can offend the delicacy of the most fastidious. It is highly spoken of by the press wherever it has exhibited as being perfectly unobjectionable in character, and as one calculated to instruct as well as amuse all lovers of animated nature. This colossal establishment will exhibit on Monday next on Taylor street, West Side, and Tuesday on Erie street, East Side, giving two exhibitions at each place, at 2 and Tr. M.

Scott, $5 and costs. Grand Larceny .- William Patterson, case continued to Aug. 30th. COHORRY IN MEADVILLE.-We learn that Mr. E. Hoffman, the musical composer and pianist, and Madam Varian, who is so widely and favorably known, will make their appearance in Meadville next Monday night, when they will treat the citizens of that enterprising place to a first class musical entertainment. They have class musical entertainment. They have given a number of concerts in this city, and their performance invariably gives satisfaction.

We are prepared to transact business of every description relating to Inventions, Drawings, Cartests, Specifications, Patents, Intringressus, and the Patent Laws.

FRIDAY EVENTES, Aug. 25, 1868. Local money matters remain about as previously reported, the market ruling sleady, but in the aggregate of buttuess doing, very quiet.
The demand for loans lies probably never been smaller than at present, but the Hanks are not destrons of materially extending their discount line, even were their balances in a position to enlarge, which is not at present the case. There is a good deal of uncertainty as to what the course of trade is likely to be in the fall, and unquestionably good easons for proceeding cautionaly in the matter to mishing money for speculative investment, whi To entertained by banking capitalists elsewhere those of this city fully uniting. Hence the disposition is firm to keep accommedations within the sure limits of sa'ety, as the only prudent policy in the present situation of trade. Exchange is firm and unchanged, with only i

Of the New York money market the Herald says Of the New York money market the Heraid says. The money market is very singulah and the finck Exchange affords employ ment for only a small pertion of the locatele fan's as command. The general rate of call locate is 6 per cent, eith occasional manuscitions at My as d seven. The discussional manuscitions at My as d seven. The discussional manuscitions at My as d seven. The discussions will but when distributed or commerce at paper, as wall as of stock collaborate, which immediately followed the Extohum expose has worn off. The best signatures are taken at Tag 8 and the second grade at 9 m is per cent.

In Chicago ou rency is in good supply for legitiate paper. Exchange lagr. wing more pleasy, and the rates are quoted at par buying and 1-10 premium salling.
In Cinc must correscy is accumulating and the market is easy. Exchange is improving allowly in ampply, rates rating at 503,750 premium buying and -10 prominm selling. Gold continues to rule without much change, and ransections seem to be confined to the legitimate was: of importers for the payment of duties. The price this afternoon closed at 143. The New York markets continue to improve in prices of aimest all kinds of commodities, based upon the unfavorable intelligence from Europe re garding the crops, but while this speculative ad rance is being made in prices, the marast is not lixing any increase of business, but on the contrary, exports are being out down under it, and iyers are refusing to take hold to any considerable tent until something more definite moon which bast an advance is obtained. In this marks rices are firmer, but business light. The relative prices here and at the semboard prevent shipments, and the demand is there are restricted to the wants of home dealers and consumers. There were no re rted sales of Flour to day, but prices are fi m as he advance obtained years day. The stock in the market is comparatively small. Wheat is steady and firm, with a little freer inquiry for choice sets! ne grades. Corn is firm at vesterday's advance Jain were irregiller as to price to day, though 40c may be considered the prevailing price in the marrade continue liberal. Produce is steady, a good emand exists for shipping lots. Butter, at rather rmer rates. Fresh packed Eggs are wanted, and, very nice, would command tre extreme of our notations. Co ess is rather quiet, but firm. There was less doing in Highwines to-day, but mall less changed hands at $5,18. at which price he market is firm. Petroleum is steady and firm it our quitatious but with only a moderate inquiry r present delivery. We cannot hear of any or nots being made for future delivery. In relation to the foreign crops the Hew York belowe says: "I offers by the China report that s grain crop will not prove better than third-rate n E-giand. Advices from Odessa also report a paris falling of the crops, and the cows from the rest the Continent, is equally glowing, and an actiissiand may be expected for our breadstuffs that will employ all the rolling stock of the roads at paying rates, and give employment to our ship-
